

Thin lines: one fly each. Black: mean; band: ±1 SD across flies. Bar on top: light (open) and dark (filled) phases; grey bar: constant darkness. The slope of the black line is the cycle flux J; single flies wander forward and back, and the forward drift stands clear of their spread only over days.